UNITED NATIONS EDUCATIONAL, SCIENTIFIC AND CULTURAL ORGANIZATION

CONVENTION CONCERNING THE PROTECTION OF THE WORLD
CULTURAL AND NATURAL HERITAGE

BUREAU OF THE WORLD HERITAGE COMMITTEE

Twenty-fifth session
Paris, UNESCO Headquarters, Room X
25 - 30 June 2001

Item 6 of the Provisional Agenda : Information on Tentative Lists and examination of nominations of cultural and natural sites to the List of World Heritage in Danger and the World Heritage List

SUMMARY

The Bureau examines the nominations to the List of World Heritage in Danger and to the World Heritage List and makes its recommendations to the Committee. Recommendations on nominations to the List of World Heritage in Danger are made when the Bureau determines that a property on the World Heritage List is threatened by serious and specific danger and that major operations are necessary for the conservation of the property.

Recommendations on nominations to the World Heritage List are made in the following four categories:

- a) properties which it recommends for inscription without reservation;
- b) properties which it does not recommend for inscription;
- c) properties that need to be referred back to the nominating State Party for further information or documentation;
- d) properties whose examination should be deferred pending a more in-depth assessment or study.

This document contains the following sections:

- Summary
- Explanatory Notes
- Summary Table of nominations to be considered
- Annex I: Tentative Lists of States Parties whose nominations are being considered in 2001
- Annex II: Debate of the 22nd Session of the World Heritage Committee (Kyoto, 1998) concerning the representativity of the World Heritage List

The World Heritage Centre is working to improve the format of documents. Please provide any comments and suggestions for further improvements to the Centre in writing.

Summary

List of World Heritage in Danger

At the time of preparation of this document, no properties are presented for nomination to the List of World Heritage in Danger.

Tentative Lists

At its seventeenth session in Cartagena (December 1993), the Committee confirmed that tentative lists are mandatory for cultural properties which the State Party intends to nominate for inscription on the World Heritage List during the coming five to ten years. At its twenty-fourth session in Cairns (December 2000), the Committee decided to revise the Operational Guidelines "to extend to natural sites its decision not to examine nominations of sites for inscription if the property does not appear on a tentative list." All of the sites to be examined by this session of the Bureau had been nominated prior to the Committee's decision in 2000. The Secretariat confirms that all cultural properties proposed for inscription are included on the Tentative List of the nominating State Party. A complete list of Tentative Lists of States Parties whose nominations are being examined in 2001 is attached as Annex I of this document.

World Heritage List

At its twenty-second session (Kyoto, 1998), the Committee "asked that when the Bureau examines new nominations at its future sessions, it take into account the debate of the twenty-second session of the Committee on the establishment of a representative World Heritage List." This debate is reflected in Section IX, of the report of the twenty-second session of the Committee (Kyoto, 1998), attached as Annex II. In particular, the Committee noted that "decisions by the Committee concerning nominations are sometimes disconnected from the implementation of the Global Strategy. ... The Committee urged the advisory bodies to pursue further work on breaking down the themes into subthemes, taking into consideration the recommendations of relevant expert meetings."

At its twenty-fourth session (Cairns, 2000), the Committee directed the advisory bodies and the World Heritage Centre to "proceed with an analysis of sites inscribed on the World Heritage List and the tentative list on a regional, chronological, geographical and thematic basis." (Report of the twenty-fourth session, para. VI.2).

In preparation for this analysis, the advisory bodies agreed to present evaluations to the 25th session of the Bureau in thematic or biogeographic order. This breakdown is summarized in tables below.

Cultural nominations ¹

Theme	Number of sites being proposed ²	Number of Sites already inscribed	Percentage of all cultural sites already inscribed ³
Archaeological sites	1	141	26%
Historic Towns	11	181	34%
Religious Properties	4	120	22%
Architectural Monuments & ensembles	2	41	7 %
Technological Ensembles	5	28	5%
Cultural Landscapes	9 ⁴	23	4%

Mixed cultural and natural nominations

	Number of sites being proposed	Number of Sites already inscribed	Percentage of all sites already inscribed
Mixed	4	23	3%

Natural nominations

Biogeographic Realm	Number of sites being proposed ²	Number of Sites already inscribed	Percentage of natural sites already inscribed
Palaeartic	10	44	31%
Afrotropical	1	31	22%
Indomalayan	1	15	10%
Neotropical	2	30	21%

This session of the Bureau will review 50 nominations for 32 cultural properties, 4 mixed sites, and 14 natural properties. In addition, 7 extensions for sites already inscribed are proposed.

Concerning the number of nominations being examined, the Bureau may wish to recall the decision of the Committee at its twenty-fourth session in Cairns (December 2000):

¹ Based in part on the ICOMOS Study for the Working Group on the Representativity of the List, Annex III, WHC-2000/CONF.204/INF.8

² Exclusive of extensions

³ Cultural groupings are not mutually exclusive (some sites may be in more than one category); consequently percentages will total more than 100%

⁴ Only 4 of the 9 cultural landscapes specifically make reference to para. 39 of the Op. Guidelines. ICOMOS considers that the other 5 nominations are also cultural landscapes.

In order to promote the effective management of the increasing size of the World Heritage List, the Committee at each ordinary session will set the maximum number of nominations to be considered. In the first instance and on an interim basis, it is proposed that at the twenty-seventh session of the Committee in 2003, the number of nominations examined by the Committee will be limited to a maximum of 30 new sites.

Explanatory Notes

For those nominations which were deferred or referred from previous sessions, explanatory notes taken from the previous reports of the Bureau or Committee have been included, recalling the earlier conclusion.

On the recommendation of the Committee's Task Force on the Implementation of the Convention, and of the Bureau at its twenty-fourth session (June 2000), a single summary table lists the nominations to be reviewed and records the recommendations of the Advisory Bodies using the following abbreviations:

- I recommending inscription;
- N recommending that the site not be inscribed;
- R recommending referral;
- D recommending deferral;
- OK recommendation for approval of an extension or amendment;
- no recommendation available, due to a delayed mission or other reason;
- ‡ recommendation pending confirmation from a site visit.

Recommendations for mixed sites are presented as a pair of codes, for cultural and natural values respectively, using the abbreviations noted above.

By request of the State Party, the nomination of Tana Toraja Traditional Settlement (Indonesia), evaluated by ICOMOS as a traditional settlement, has been withdrawn for resubmission at a later time.

Summary table of nominations to be considered by the 25th session of the Bureau

993 Rev	Historic Centre of the Town of Goiás	(Deferred)	Brazil	I
---------	--------------------------------------	------------	--------	---

The June 2000 Bureau (24th session) decided that further consideration of this nomination be deferred, requesting the State Party to revise the nomination regarding the justification of the outstanding universal value and the definition of the nominated area.

873 Rev	Provins, a Medieval Fair Town	(Resubmitted)	France	I
---------	-------------------------------	---------------	--------	---

The June 1998 Bureau (22nd session) recommended the Committee not to inscribe the site on the World Heritage List. The nomination was subsequently withdrawn from consideration by the State Party. A revised nomination was submitted in June 2000 by the State Party.

1019	Vardzia-Khertvisi Historical Area		Georgia	I ‡

753 Rev	Médina of Essaouira (Former Mogador)	(Deferred)	Morocco	---
---------	--------------------------------------	------------	---------	-----

The June 1997 Bureau (21st session) decided to defer the examination of this property to allow the State Party to formulate and implement a management plan incorporating monitoring and maintenance programmes supported by professionally accepted conservation standards and guidelines and implemented by a formal administrative structure responsible solely for this work.

1031	Historic Centre of Guimarães		Portugal	I
603 Rev	Samarkand - The place of crossing and synthesis of world cultures	(Deferred)	Uzbekistan	R

The June 1991 Bureau (15th session) deferred the examination of this nomination pending submission by the Soviet authorities of a new nomination concerning only the Moslem monuments of Samarkand. The Bureau suggested that ICOMOS send a field mission for this purpose.

A.3 Religious properties (4 nominations, 3 extensions, 1 amendment)

971	Churches of Chiloé	(Amendment)	Chile	OK
	This property was inscribed on the World Heritage List at the 24th Session of the World Heritage Committee in Cairns (Australia) in December 2000. This amendment - for approval by the Bureau - concerns two churches, those of Caguach and Chelín, which the State Party had requested should be added to the original group of fourteen.
1039	Yungang Grottoes		China	I
707 Ter	Norbulingka (the expanded Potala Palace)	(Extension)	China	OK
351 Bis	Painted Churches in the Troodos Region	(Extension)	Cyprus	OK ‡

A.6 Traditional settlements and architecture

(Site withdrawn by the State Party)

A.7 Technological ensembles (5 nominations)

975	The Cultural Industrial Landscape of the "Zollverein Mine"	(Deferred)	Germany	R
	The June 2000 Bureau (24th session) decided to defer further consideration of this nomination, to enable the State Party to remove the Ferris wheel in the coking plant, to abandon the plans to build a new structure on top of the washing plant, and to prepare a comprehensive management plan for the industrial site, with a conservation plan based on the preparation of a detailed inventory.
1027	The Historical Industrial Landscape of the Great Copper Mountain in Falun		Sweden	R
1030	Derwent Valley Mills		United Kingdom	I
429 Rev	New Lanark	(Deferred)	United Kingdom	I
	The June 1988 Bureau (12th session) recognized the qualities of this site. However, it felt that inscription of this site would be premature until an overall view of the sites where social doctrines of the contemporary world evolved in connection with the industrial or agricultural revolutions had been realized and a comparative study on the industrial sites of the nineteenth century had been carried out by ICOMOS.
1028	Saltaire		United Kingdom	I

A.8 Cultural Landscapes (9 nominations, 1 extension)

(Asterisks indicate those proposed by the State Party as cultural landscapes under para. 39 of the Operational Guidelines. Those properties without asterisks are considered by ICOMOS to be cultural landscapes.)

772 Rev	Cultural Landscape of Fertö-Neusiedler Lake (*)	(Deferred)	Austria/Hungary
	The June 1996 Bureau (20th session) deferred a nomination for the natural values of this property by Austria, recommending that the State Party consider nominating the site jointly with Hungary as a transfrontier cultural landscape.
1040	Masada National Park		Israel	I	N
766 Rev	Natural complex "Central Sikhote-Alin"	(Deferred)	Russian Federation	D	---
	In December 1996 the Bureau (20th extraordinary session) noted important biological values and threatened species, including the Siberian Tiger. The Bureau however, was of the opinion that the boundary of the nomination is not justified, that a legal basis is only provided for 14% of the nominated area and that the Regional Government wished to be involved in a revised nomination. The Bureau decided to defer the property.
1059	Karain Caves and Surroundings		Turkey	D	N

C. Nominations of natural properties to the World Heritage List Listed by Udvardy Biogeographic Realm

C.1 Palaeartic Realm (10 nominations and 1 extension)

C.3 Indomalayan Realm (1 nomination)

951 Rev	Phong Nha-Ke Bang National Park	(Deferred)	Viet Nam	---

The July 1999 Bureau (23rd session) decided to defer a decision on the site, pending review of the possibility of expanding the boundaries of the site as proposed. It is also strongly recommended that there be discussions with the Lao PDR State Party with a view to further expanding the boundaries of the site, at a later stage, to include the Hin Namno Karst reserve of Lao PDR and any other relevant areas.

Reports from conservation NGOs (WWF, BirdLife International etc.) concerning a highway construction project which will cross part of the World Heritage nomination of the Phong Nha-Ke Bang National Park were received by the World Heritage Centre. All this information has been transmitted to IUCN for consideration during its evaluation of this site.

C.4 Neotropical Realm (2 nominations and 1 extension)

1035	Chapada dos Veadeiros National Park		Brazil	N
1 Bis	Galapagos Marine Reserve	(Extension)	Ecuador	R

D. Nomination not examined by the Advisory Body

148 Bis	Extension of the inscribed site of Jerusalem - The Old City and Ramparts to include Mount Zion		Israel	---
---------	--	--	--------	-----

Following consultations with the Bureau, the Chairperson of the Committee decided "that the appropriate course of action would be to postpone consideration of all aspects of the nomination until the Bureau had the opportunity to consider it at its next meeting in June".

Tentative Lists of States Parties whose nominations are being examined in 2001

At its seventeenth session in Cartagena, December 1993, the Committee expressed its concern on the small number of tentative lists that meet the requirements as stipulated in the Operational Guidelines (paragraphs 7 and 8 and Annex I) and confirmed the importance of these lists for planning purposes, comparative analyses of nominations and for facilitating the undertaking of the global and thematic studies. These tentative lists also constitute an inventory of the properties situated within the territory of each State Party, and which it considers suitable for inclusion on the World Heritage List. The Committee also confirmed that tentative lists are mandatory for cultural properties which the State Party intends to nominate for inscription on the World Heritage List during the coming five to ten years. At its twenty-fourth session in Cairns (December 2000), the Committee decided to revise the Operational Guidelines "to extend to natural sites its decision not to examine nominations of sites for inscription if the property does not appear on a tentative list."

By 1 July 2000, 29 countries had submitted nominations for cultural properties for inscription on the World Heritage List which appeared on their tentative lists and met the requirements of the Operational Guidelines.

As of 15 May 2001, of the 164 countries which had ratified the Convention, 119 States Parties had submitted tentative lists in accordance with the format specified in the Operational Guidelines, 45 countries had not submitted any tentative lists.

All the tentative lists received by the World Heritage Centre from State Parties having submitted nominations for review in 2001 are attached below, in English alphabetical order. Site names are listed in the language in which they have been submitted by the State Party.

Debate of the 22nd Session of the World Heritage Committee (Kyoto, 1998) concerning the representativity of the World Heritage List

From WHC-98/CONF.203/18: Report of the Twenty-Second Session of the World Heritage Committee, Kyoto, Japan, 30 November - 5 December 1998

IX.6 The Delegate of Australia, who had prepared a discussion paper for the Consultative Body meeting in April, informed the Committee that the following technical issues were examined by the Consultative Body at the request of the twenty-first session of the Committee:

- (a) the application of cultural criteria (i) and (vi);
- (b) the test of authenticity;
- (c) the imbalance of the World Heritage List; and
- (d) the implementation of the Global Strategy.

IX.7 The Delegate of Australia, informed the Committee about the deliberations of the Consultative Body and also referred to some of the main findings of the World Heritage Global Strategy Natural and Cultural Heritage Expert Meeting, held in Amsterdam in March 1998 (Information Document WHC-98/CONF.203/INF.7). She acknowledged that the discussion on the use of cultural criteria (i) and (vi) and the test of authenticity had benefited from written contributions from Greece, Malta and Zimbabwe. The contribution from Malta had proposed more detailed guidelines for the more stringent application of cultural criterion (i). The Delegate of Zimbabwe's contribution had focussed on the different understanding of authenticity in an African compared to a universal context. His paper also referred to the inseparability of natural and cultural heritage in Africa. Whilst noting that no change had been suggested to cultural criteria (i) and (vi) it was deemed necessary to suggest sparing use and a better definition of exactly how they should be used. She suggested that the advisory bodies may wish to review the qualifying conditions used to apply cultural criteria (i) and (vi) as part of their work to propose revisions to Section I of the Operational Guidelines.

IX.8 The Delegate of Australia then made reference to discussions on the test of authenticity and the application of the conditions of integrity. For authenticity, the discussions had focused on the nature of authenticity as outlined in the Nara Declaration on Authenticity. The Delegate of Australia highlighted two issues that had emerged from discussions. Firstly she stressed the need for more rigour to deter over-restoration. She also indicated the need to understand the link between authenticity and cultural value. In this respect she expressed the overwhelming view of the Amsterdam meeting that authenticity provisions should be defined for each of the criteria used to justify properties for inclusion on the World Heritage List. Furthermore, she noted that when devising new authenticity and integrity provisions, reference also needed to be made to geo-cultural contexts.

IX.9 The Delegate of Australia made reference to the recommendation of the twenty-second session of the Bureau that had asked, that in line with the discussions at the Global Strategy Expert Meeting in Amsterdam, further work be undertaken on breaking down the cultural themes outlined at the 1994 Global Strategy Experts Meeting into sub-themes that would assist identification of those types places that are over- or under-represented on the World Heritage List. The Bureau had requested that this work should recognise the inseparability of natural and cultural heritage. The Delegate of Australia commented that for natural heritage a number of thematic studies have been carried out by IUCN in a global context. However, she noted the ICOMOS studies seemed to be based on types of properties rather than cultural themes.

IX.10 The Delegate of Canada gave a brief report on the Global Strategy meeting held in Amsterdam in March 1998. She reminded the members of the Committee that following the expert meeting on natural heritage held in the Parc de la Vanoise in 1996, the twentieth session of the Committee had requested a truly joint natural and cultural heritage expert meeting to discuss the implementation of the Global Strategy for a credible and representative World Heritage List. She informed the Committee that the Amsterdam meeting had addressed four main points – (i) the application of the conditions of integrity versus the test of authenticity; (ii) the question of a unified or a harmonized set of criteria; (iii) the notion of outstanding universal value and its application in different regional and cultural contexts; and, (iv) the credibility of the Convention and its implementation.

IX.11 The Delegate of Canada referred the Committee to the recommendations made in the report of the Amsterdam meeting for, (i) the existing natural and cultural heritage criteria to be unified into one single set of criteria to better reflect the continuum between nature and culture (Table 2 of Information Document WHC-98/CONF.203/INF.7); and (ii) the conditions of integrity (to include reference to the notion of authenticity) to be applied to both natural and cultural heritage (Table 3 of Information Document WHC-98/CONF.203/INF.7). She noted that the experts at Amsterdam asked that the World Heritage List reflect the broad spectrum of natural and cultural diversity and the outstanding relationships between people and the environment.

IX.12 With reference to the notion of outstanding universal value, the Delegate of Australia informed the Committee that a more regional and thematic approach to its interpretation deriving from broad themes and sub-themes had been recommended by the Amsterdam expert meeting. The expert group had noted that the implementation of the Global Strategy, using a regional and thematic approach, would be applied to fill in the gaps in the World Heritage List. The expert group had acknowledged that good progress had been made in this regard but had recommended that steps be taken to accelerate its implementation.

IX.13 With regard to the credibility of the Convention and its implementation, the Delegate of Canada noted that the experts attending the Amsterdam meeting had stressed that inscription of a site on the World Heritage List is not a single event but part of a continuing process to ensure the protection of the values for which the site has been inscribed. The Delegate of Zimbabwe informed the Committee of the discussions on credibility of the Convention and its implementation that took place at the expert meeting in Amsterdam. He referred to the details of that discussion presented in Table 7 of Information Document WHC-98/CONF.203/INF.7. He noted that the working group on credibility at the Amsterdam meeting had emphasized that the cornerstone of the credibility of the World Heritage List is the rigorous monitoring of properties and the political commitment of the States Parties to their protection.

IX.14 With reference to the application of cultural criteria (i) and (vi), the Committee did not suggest revisions. A number of Committee members did however suggest that a better understanding of the application of both criteria is required and explanatory text to accompany the criteria could be formulated to assist in this regard. It was noted that in applying cultural criterion (i), for example for rock art sites, it was important to go beyond reference to the 'masterpiece of human creative genius' to the landscape context which is inseparable to the meaning and prehistoric articulation of the landscape. The use of other cultural criteria and the three categories of cultural landscapes was noted as being important in this regard. A number of delegates and ICCROM stressed the need to finalise the work on bringing the natural and cultural criteria together and to expressing how they are to be used with greater clarity.

IX.15 Several delegates referred to the differential regional applications of the notion of authenticity. The Delegate of Greece made a statement that is included in Annex VIII.

IX.16 On the question of the balance of the List, the Committee emphasized that it was less useful to simply refer to the numbers of properties on the List than to assess the expressions of cultural and natural diversity and of cultural and natural themes from different regions represented on the List. Whilst some delegates noted that there are obstacles to achieving representation on the List in some regions and countries (for example, because of lack of awareness of the Convention or of technical and financial capacity etc.), others referred to the high numbers of nominations being presented to the World Heritage Committee each year. A number of delegates noted that the decision by the Committee concerning nominations are sometimes disconnected from the implementation of the Global Strategy as had been seen by the high number of European sites the Committee had inscribed on the World Heritage List at its twenty-second session. It was also noted that the interests of national authorities might differ from the objectives of the Global Strategy in relation to the inclusion of properties on the List. Currently the work of the Convention is highly respected in many countries, but the pressures on the entire system are substantive.

IX.17 In this context, the need was stressed to move from recommendations to action and to assess the issue from a political perspective, basically founded on two aspects: the urgency of meeting the legitimate expectations of a substantial number of countries to be assisted in presenting applications for their sites; and the need for some countries to self-contain their ambitions. The Delegate of France expressed concern about the useful discussions concerning the balance of the List and the decisions taken by the Committee, emphasizing that the credibility of the latter was at stake. He insisted upon the importance of avoiding the perpetration of this imbalance. The Delegate of Finland proposed a moratorium on inscriptions, in order for the Committee and the World Heritage Centre to focus more on preparing applications for countries that are underrepresented on the List.

IX.18 The Committee was of the general opinion that regionally specific approaches to the implementation of the Global Strategy for a representative and credible World Heritage List (as adopted by the Committee as part of the Action Plan on the Global Strategy – see Section X) should be accelerated to ensure results. The Committee noted the need to use a more strategic approach to funding activities relating to underrepresented regions and themes.

IX.19 The Representative of IUCN reinforced the importance of there being one World Heritage that recognizes the nature-culture continuum. IUCN informed the Committee that they had discussed the concept of this continuum with IUCN members on several occasions, including the World Conservation Congress (Montreal 1996). The concept of one single set of criteria and the issue of a credible and representative World Heritage List reflecting cultural and natural diversity had received support among the IUCN membership. The IUCN Representative referred to their continuing work on thematic studies with new partners, including the WWF Global 200 Programme. He informed the Committee that IUCN sees further scope for cooperation with ICOMOS in relation to cultural landscapes, especially those with biodiversity values. He stated that the assessment of outstanding universal value in an international context and the maintenance of integrity and authenticity are key to ensuring the credibility of the World Heritage List.

IX.20 The Representatives of ICOMOS wished that attention be given to the actual inscription of a property on the World Heritage List rather than to the criteria, which may be considered as tools for analysis and which, furthermore, need not be mentioned in the published List. They insisted upon the importance of regular communication with the site managers so that they may be well informed of the debates taking place and take into account the reality of the field. Finally, they were of the opinion that the objectives of the Convention should be reaffirmed, that they do not have as aim the establishment of a list of the most prestigious properties, but first and foremost to implement international co-operation for the safeguarding of humankind's cultural heritage.

IX.21 The Chairperson thanked the Government of the Netherlands for hosting the Amsterdam Global Strategy meeting (March 1998) and the Committee, advisory bodies and observers for the rich and intensive debate. The Committee adopted the following decisions:

- 1) The Committee thanked the Delegate of Italy (who had chaired the Consultative Body in 1998) and all the members of the Consultative Body for their productive work on the technical issues and paid tribute to the work of the Global Strategy Expert Meeting held in Amsterdam, the Netherlands, in March 1998.
- 2) The Committee stressed the urgent need to establish a representative World Heritage List and considered it imperative to ensure more participation of those States Parties whose heritage is currently underrepresented on the World Heritage List. The Committee requested the Centre and the advisory bodies to actively consult with these States Parties to encourage and support their active participation in the implementation of the Global Strategy for a credible and representative World Heritage List through the concrete regional actions described in the Global Strategy Action Plan adopted by the Committee at its twenty-second session.
- 3) Given the purposes of the World Heritage Convention, the policy of the Committee regarding nominations should have two parts: (i) the Committee should value all nominations from all States Parties and (ii) the Committee should strategically expend its resources to increase nomination of sites from parts of the world which are presently not represented or underrepresented.
- 4) The Committee asked that when the Bureau examines new nominations at its future sessions, it take into account the debate of the twenty-second session of the Committee on the establishment of a representative World Heritage List.
- 5) The Committee requested the Centre to work with the advisory bodies, to further develop the revision of Section I of the Operational Guidelines and submit them to the twenty-third session of the Bureau. The Bureau should submit for adoption its recommendations to the twenty-third session of the World Heritage Committee.
- 6) The Committee urged the advisory bodies to pursue further work on breaking down the themes into sub-themes, taking into consideration the recommendations of relevant expert meetings. Particular attention should be given to secure the highest level of scientific and technical consensus. The advisory bodies are asked to report on progress made and suggest any concrete decisions to be taken by future sessions of the Committee.
- 7) The Committee requested that the Centre, in collaboration with the advisory bodies present a progress report on the implementation of the regional actions described in the Global Strategy Action Plan adopted by the Committee at its twenty-second session to the twenty-third session of the Committee.
- 8) The Committee requested that an agenda item on "Ways and means to ensure a representative World Heritage List" be presented to the twelfth General Assembly of States Parties to the World Heritage Convention in 1999. The twenty-third session of the Bureau is asked to prepare the agenda item for the General Assembly.
