A. BACKGROUND

1. At its 29th session (Durban, 2005) the World Heritage Committee recommended “that the General Conference of UNESCO adopt a new Recommendation to complement and update the existing ones on the subject of conservation of historic urban landscapes, with special reference to the need to link contemporary architecture to the urban historic context (Decision 29 COM 5D).

2. The General Conference of UNESCO decided at its 35th session (October 2009) that existing UNESCO standard-setting instruments relating to urban heritage should be supplemented through a new Recommendation on the Historic Urban Landscape (35 C/Resolution 42).

3. In accordance with the Rules of Procedure concerning recommendations to Member States and international conventions covered by the terms of Article IV, paragraph 4, of the Constitution, the General Conference with its 35 C/Resolution 42 also set a working method for the preparation of the new Recommendation in two stages. It decided to convene a meeting of experts invited in their personal capacity (category VI), as stage one, to compile a first draft of the proposed Recommendation to be sent to Member States for comments.

4. The meeting of international experts was held from 17 to 19 February 2010 at UNESCO Headquarters in Paris. The discussions and recommendations by the expert group provided a solid basis upon which the Secretariat prepared a first draft text of the proposed new Recommendation, which was included in a preliminary report setting forth the position by UNESCO with regard to the issue of the Historic Urban Landscape. In conformity with the Rules of Procedure, on 23 August 2010 this first draft text and the preliminary report were submitted by the Director-General to the Member States of UNESCO and to the Associate Members, requesting them to submit by 25 December 2010 any comments they might have on the text.

5. As stage two and after receipt of comments from the Member States by 25 December 2010, an intergovernmental meeting of experts (category II) would be organized with a view to approving a draft to be submitted to the General Conference at its 36th session.

B. PROCESS

matters; a number of comments also raised specific issues and expressed observations on the content of the draft text of the proposed Recommendation. Most of the comments received proposed the insertion of alternative specific terms in replacement of others suggested for deletion, for each of the sections of the proposed draft text of the Recommendation.
