Statutes of the UNESCO-Greece Melina Mercouri International Prize for the Safeguarding and Management of Cultural Landscapes

Article 1 – Purpose

The purpose of the UNESCO-Greece Melina Mercouri International Prize for the Safeguarding and Management of Cultural Landscapes (“the Prize”) is to reward outstanding examples of action to safeguard and enhance the world’s major cultural landscapes. It bears the name of Melina Mercouri, a precursor of integrated conservation and sustainable development, former Minister of Culture of Greece. The objective of the Prize is in conformity with UNESCO’s policies and is related to the Programme of the Organization in the field of Culture, the overall strategy of the World Heritage Committee, and the priorities set out in the C/5 on the enhancement of management of World Heritage properties. The prize is in line with the categories for cultural landscapes as approved by the World Heritage Committee at its sixteenth session, held in Santa Fe, United States of America, in December 1992. This decision recognized the protection of cultural landscapes in the framework of the World Heritage Convention (1972). The prize enhances the linkages between culture and development, through capacity-building and sharing of knowledge.

Article 2 – Designation, Amount and Periodicity of the Prize

2.1 The Prize shall be entitled “UNESCO-Greece Melina Mercouri International Prize for the Safeguarding and Management of Cultural Landscapes”.

2.2 The Prize shall be funded by the Greek Government and shall consist of a recurrent payment of US $5,000 every two years. The cash value of the Prize shall be US $30,000, as determined by the Director-General in consultation with the donor on the basis of the contribution received, the interest on the sum deposited in the special account, in accordance with the Financial Regulations of UNESCO, and the charges to be borne by the account for the cost of administering the Prize. The contribution from the donor shall be received every first year by 15 September, in order to ensure that funds are available well in time before incurring expenditure for the administration of the Prize and for the Prize itself.

2.3 All funds received and the interest accrued thereon shall be kept in a special interest bearing account for the Prize.

2.4 The full staff support and operating/management costs of the Prize, including all costs related to the award ceremony, the meeting of the international jury, and public information activities, estimated at US $45,000 shall be fully covered by the Permanent Delegation of Greece to UNESCO on behalf of the Greek Government. To this end, the Director-General will determine a mandatory management cost amount to be applied and charged against the funds in the special account, which is to be established under the financial regulations for the Prize.

2.5 The Prize shall be awarded every two years, on an initial basis for three biennia, to only one laureate. No honourable mentions shall be awarded.

Article 3 – Conditions/Qualifications of candidates

UNESCO shall present to the prize-winner a check for the amount of the Prize as well as a diploma. UNESCO shall officially announce the name of the prizewinner.

7.2 If a work being rewarded has been produced by two or three persons, the Prize shall be awarded to them jointly. In no case may the Prize be awarded to more than one laureate.

7.3 The prize-winner, if possible, shall give a presentation on a subject relevant to the work for which the Prize has been awarded. Such a lecture shall be organized during or in connection with the Prize ceremony.

7.4 The work produced by a person since deceased shall not be considered for a prize. If, however, a prize-winner dies before he/she has received the prize, then the prize may be presented posthumously.

Article 8 – Sunset clause – mandatory renewal of the Prize

8.1 After a period of six years, an external evaluation of all aspects of the Prize, to be fully covered by the donor, shall be undertaken to decide about the continuation or termination of the Prize. The Director-General will inform the Executive Board of UNESCO about the results of this review.

Appendix

Cultural landscapes fall into three main categories, namely:

(i) The most easily identifiable is the clearly defined landscape designed and created intentionally by humans. This embraces garden and parkland landscapes constructed for aesthetic reasons, which are often (but not always) associated with religious or other monumental buildings and ensembles.

(ii) The second category is the organically evolved landscape. This results from an initial social, economic, administrative, and/or religious imperative and has developed its present form by association with and in response to its natural environment. Such landscapes reflect that process of evolution in their form and component features. They fall into two sub-categories:

- a relic (or fossil) landscape is one in which an evolutionary process came to an end at some time in the past, either abruptly or over a period. Its significant distinguishing features are, however, still visible in material form;

- a continuing landscape is one which retains an active social role in contemporary society closely associated with the traditional way of life, and in which the evolutionary process is still in progress. At the same time, it exhibits significant material evidence of its evolution over time.

(iii) The final category is the associative cultural landscape. The inclusion of such landscapes on the World Heritage List is justifiable by virtue of the powerful religious, artistic or cultural associations of the natural element rather than material cultural evidence, which may be insignificant or even absent.
