Ibiza, biodiversities and culture: Reaching and living the world’s history under the waves

EXPLORING Balearic beds

Punta del Dalt and Posidonia sea-grass dives

Tides of time

Ibiza has the natural beauty born of the sea and the coast as well as evidence of mankind’s long history in the Mediterranean.

Jaeger-LeCoultre’s commitment to the environment

Jaeger-LeCoultre and UNESCO in partnership for conservation

Double protection

If the UNESCO World Heritage properties, with only 28 listed sites, their relatively small number may be their biggest challenge. Their sites must demonstrate outstanding universal value both to cultural and natural cultures, says Khaled Al-Ibadi, the World Heritage Centre’s deputy director. “It’s not easy or convenient possible in every case.”

Conservation of one of the most important natural and cultural resources, Unesco World Heritage sites, which include the historic sanctuary of Mount Athos in Greece, the Rock Sites of Cappadocia in Turkey, the Lakes Region in Sweden and St. Kilda in Britain.

International Herald Tribune

The Glendale School, Glendale, CA 91205