2. Statement of Outstanding Universal Value

2.1 - Statement of Outstanding Universal Value / Statement of Significance

Statement of Significance
The Declaration of Independence was adopted in 1776 in this fine 18th century building in Philadelphia, to be followed in 1787 by the framing of the Constitution of the United States of America. Although conceived in a national framework and hence of fundamental importance to American history, the universal principles of freedom and democracy set forth in these documents were to have a profound impact on lawmakers and political thinkers around the world. They became the models for similar charters of other nations, and may justly be considered to have heralded the modern era of government.

Criterion (vi) The universal principles of the right to revolution and self-government as expressed in the U.S. Declaration of Independence (1776) and Constitution (1787), which were debated, adopted, and signed in Independence Hall, have profoundly influenced lawmakers and politicians around the world. The fundamental concepts, format, and even substantive elements of the two documents have influenced governmental charters in many nations and even the United Nations Charter.

3.17. Comments, conclusions and/or recommendations related to factors affecting the property

3.17.1 - Comments
Over the past 10 years, commercial properties have been converted to residential, increasing the population density of the area. Also more restaurants and bars in the area have combined with more residents to make the surrounding neighborhood crowded and active into the early morning hours. Opportunities for potential negative effects have increased. The park has increased security measures to accommodate this change and to provide the highest level of protection to the World Heritage site.

4.2. Protective Measures

4.2.1 - Protective designation (legal, regulatory, contractual, planning, institutional and/or traditional)
Independence Hall is legally owned by the City of Philadelphia [Broad and Market Streets, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19107 USA]. The building became part of Independence National Historical Park which was created by Public Law 798, 80th U.S. congress, approved on June 28, 1948. The National Park Service, a federal agency, is the steward of the building according to the terms of a Memorandum of Agreement between the Secretary of the Interior and the City of Philadelphia dated July 14, 1950. As part of Independence National Historical Park, Independence Hall receives the highest level of conservation protection afforded by federal law in the United States.
Public Law 795, 80th U.S. Congress, approved on June 28, 1948, created the Park. In furtherance of particular terms of the act, the Secretary of the Interior entered into a cooperative agreement with the City of Philadelphia on July 14, 1950, providing for administration and preservation of Independence Hall as a unit of the park. Specifically, the agreement assured “access at all reasonable times to all public portions of the property”, and the “no changes or alterations should be made in...its buildings and grounds ... except by mutual agreement between the Secretary of the Interior and the [City of Philadelphia] ...”. The National Park Service assumed custody of Independence Hall on January 1, 1951. The building is in the charge of park authorities and is open to the public every day of the year.

Independence National Historical Park has a General Management Plan (Environmental Impact Statement) that was executed in 1998. The WHS is an important part of this plan. The plan encompasses the entire park. It notes that Independence Hall was under rehabilitation at the time of publication. That project is now complete. The plan also notes the park’s intention to install exhibits of the park’s copies of the Declaration of Independence, the Articles of Confederation, and the United States Constitution in the west wing of Independence Hall. This exhibit is now in place. The east wing will continue to be used as a staging area for tours of Independence Hall. The General Management Plan is posted on http://www.nps.gov/inde/. Click on the Facts and Documents section of the welcome page. Independence National Historical Park consists of just under 45 acres (18 hectares) of land; Independence Square occupies approximately 5 of those acres (2 hectares).

We work hard to maintain the OUV for its selection and to convey its status to an average of 686,676 visitors per year. This number represents total visitation from 2008 through October, 2012.
