The United Nations Educational. Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) works with countries around the world to identify and protect cultural and natural places that merit recognition as part of the common heritage of humankind. UNESCO adopted the Convention concerning the Protection of the World Cultural and Natural Heritage in 1972. Since then, 196 countries have ratified the treaty, and at present 1223 properties are inscribed on the List – 952 of which are cultural. 231 natural and 40 mixed (a combination of the two). They are listed in alphabetical order by country and in the order of inscription.
